the world's (famous) labels earlier this month. And in defiance of those who feel she is too young to be working in such a cutthroat industry, Mechetner said: 'I feel ready and I am not alone, am being looked after, closely. 'They are treating me really (nice) here They help me.
So the fact that I(be) help her mother clean houses to make ends meet, was catapulted into the limelight in July when she opened Dior's haute couture show wearing a sheer white dress. Her (appear) drew criticism and stirred the debate on where to draw the age line in fashion, an industry often criticised for using skinny models.
